Civerinos Food Club are launching do-it-yourself pizza kits - ideal for entertaining the kids at home.

This weekend (27-29 March) Civerinos Food Club – the collective of Italian street food restaurants in Edinburgh – are launching a range of 'dough it yourself' DIY pizza kits for the whole family to enjoy at home.

The team are launching the deliveries of the DIY pizza kits today (27 March), which will run until Sunday 29 March.

What's in the kit?

The DIY kits contain all the ingredients to make you own pizza, priced at two kits for £10 and four for £18.

Delivery will be within Edinburgh city centre with plans to take the kits further in city.

Only a set number of kits will be made up per day so pizza fans need to be quick to order – which can be done by emailing poppy@civerinos.com

A MESSAGE FROM CIVERINOS

During these difficult and ever worsening times, we will all have to make tough decisions and face harsh realities.

Our wonderful Nonna's and our beautiful mothers have taught us that at times like these, we keep our ovens lit, we keep food on the table and everybody eats.

We have spent the last week focusing on how we are going to feed as many people for as long as safely possible. Part of this is to prioritise our city's key workers and help them stay strong.

We want to alleviate any burden from them that we can. These guys are heroes.

They haven't got time to think about shopping, cooking, cleaning or any of the simple things we all used to take for granted.

This week Civerinos launched a 'pay it forward' scheme, where customers can buy a half price pizza and have it sent to local NHS staff along with a message of support.

The team are also still doing home delivery.
