

The 11 best breakfast and brunch spots in Edinburgh

From greasy spoons to swanky mid-morning indulgence, these are the best places to grab breakfast and brunch in Edinburgh

By Dayna McAlpine | Posted: Thursday June 20 2019

Photograph: Ross Fraser McLean

Whether you're up at the crack of dawn or opening your eyes as the clock strikes midday, Edinburgh's full of places that can give you a hearty start to the day. You may be after a hair of the dog, when only a full fried Scottish breakfast and a Bloody Mary will do, but there's an excellent array of do-good fruit and yoghurt-centric breakfast spots here too. From greasy spoons to swanky weekend blowouts, the following is a list of the best places for breakfast and brunch in Edinburgh – perfect for nursing a hangover after a big night out (those Edinburgh whisky bars and surprisingly banging clubs can be a tad tempting, after all).

RECOMMENDED: Full guide to the best restaurants in Edinburgh*

Best breakfast and brunch spots in Edinburgh

The High Dive

5

Photograph: Ross Fraser McLean

If you like pizza and can also get behind the idea of brunch, this excellent restaurant may well tempt you. Forget all things fruity and green – the High Dive’s speciality is pizzas dripping with breakfast toppings and hybrid doughy fry-ups. Pair your pie with a cup of strong joe.